

Would These Books Be Helpful to You?

Kaminski, Robert

Sent: Thursday, February 12, 2015 9:38 AM

To: Kelley, Sarah; Kim, Elizabeth; Eakin, Marybeth; Nosse, Marge; Schlein, Laurie

Hello Everyone,

At a book preview I recently attended, there were two sets of picture-book-style nonfiction books that may be useful at your grade levels. They are a bit pricey, but I am glad to purchase any/all that you envision using in your curriculum (I can buy individual books, they don't come as sets).

The first book series is presented as if you were taking a trip to visit a habitat and goes over what you would need to take with you to visit there, and then what you would see there. Each book explores one of the following habitats: coral reefs, desert, prairie, rainforest, temperate forests, and wetlands.

Here is the link to the publisher's page on these books:

<http://www.amicuspublishing.us/books/amicus-illustrated/do-you-really-want-visit-coral-reef>

Similarly, there are three other books exploring why we need the following habitats: deserts, prairies, and reefs. You can view those books here:

<http://www.tundrabooks.com/catalog/display.pperl?isbn=9781770493865>

Please let me know if any of these books would be useful to you and I will be glad to include them in my order. Please respond by mid-day on Friday, as I need to submit my order later that day.

Thanks,
Rob